5.35pm Modern Advocate Lecture Series 2024: Lecture Three

The QLS Ethics and Practice Centre’s Modern Advocate Lecture Series aims to foster collegiality in the junior ranks of the profession and to imbue young practitioners with the knowledge and skills to sharpen their advocacy.

Facilitated by esteemed members of the judiciary and legal profession, each lecture in our highly regarded Modern Advocate Lecture Series focuses on practical advocacy skills with an ethical perspective. The lectures are of particular relevance for junior practitioners and provide networking opportunities for early career lawyers.

His Honour will speak to the exercising of good judgement and what that means for legal practitioners. You will hear his honour’s perspectives on how a practitioner is able to utilise their experience and knowledge to answer the questions that are truly being asked of them in the course of their career.

Presenter: His Honour, Judge Horneman-Wren SC, District Court of Queensland

6.35pm Closing remarks

Presenter: Dan Rogers, Legal Director, Robertson O’Gorman Solicitors; Accredited Specialist (Criminal Law) – Qld
