

The working from home survival kit

Recorded: Thursday 2 April | 90 minutes
2019/2020 or 2020/2021 CPD year

Overview

This package includes two separate presentations that are sure to inspire, refresh and enhance your professional skills in practice.

Leadership – One conversation at a time

In the words of Peter Drucker: “management is doing things right...leadership is doing the right things.”

Join us for an inspiring session around the impact of good leadership on the long-term success of your career and business.

Explore the required mindset and skills needed to set you up to be a great leader, examine how leadership differs from both management and being a good lawyer; and learn what it takes to be an inspiring leader who leaves a positive impact—one (remote) conversation at a time!

Working from home – Staying well, presenting well

With an unprecedented number of us now working—and presenting—from home, join our expert presenter Lisa Stockwell, for practical hints, tips and tricks on how to thrive in this new environment and overcome the fourth wall when it comes to adapting to (and presenting within) this brave new digital workspace.

Presenter
